Supported findings

- i9 Sports is focused on youth sports leagues and age-appropriate participation.
- The brand emphasizes fun, access, sportsmanship, and participation over elite tryout structures.
- The model uses recurring seasonal programs and structured local operations.

Operational interpretation

The business model implies multiple recurring operational tasks across a season: schedule creation, communication, staffing, rules enforcement, and family experience management.

Claim guardrail

No claim should be treated as an exact internal process fact without direct operator input. This review is a strategic opportunity assessment, not a complete operational diagnosis.
